My name is Asha Irani. I am seven years old. My mom got me the book Winky + Wonder because she thought I would like it and I did. Sometimes I feel like the Whisper people are real and sometimes I feel like they are just a part of me.

I am now listening to my heart because of the book Winky + Wonder. I have two examples of this. The first time I listened to my heart was when it was an icy day. My brother liked to keep our ice on our windows so we could write on them. But our dad did not know that so he wiped it off my brother's window. Then my brother opened his door and told him that we did not like him to wipe off our windows. My dad came arround and did not wipe off mine. Then he got in the car and started driving. but I felt bad for my brother, so I wiped off my window.

My second example is when I pet my dog. I end up petting her more than I want because I feel like she is lonely alot.
